PART XI (RULES OF RACING)

Racing Colours

75. (a) Racing colours registered before the prescribed date mentioned in Appendix 1 D will continue to be registered colours of its owner;

(b) Racing colours required to be registered after said prescribed date shall conform to the standard schemes for owners colours and jacket design shown in Appendix 9 to these Rules.

(c) Every owner in whose name a horse is to run is required to register colours by application to the Secretary of the Registry Office. Such application may be made annually upon payment of the prescribed fee or once in every five years, upon payment of the prescribed fee;

(d) Registration of racing colours must be made on a form prescribed by the Stewards of the Club and comply with the instructions contained therein. The Stewards of the Club shall waive the requirements of the aforementioned instructions for owners whose racing colours are registered with a Recognised Turf Authority subject to Rule 75(e)(ii) every horse coming from abroad may run in the registered colours of its owner in the country where the horse is trained;

(e) All disputes as to the rights to particular colours shall be settled by the Stewards of the Club who may, from time to time, in their discretion, determine:

(i) which colours or shades thereof and in which combinations are available for registration as racing colours; and

(ii) what feature may sufficiently distinguish one set of racing colours from a similar set as to allow both to be registered.

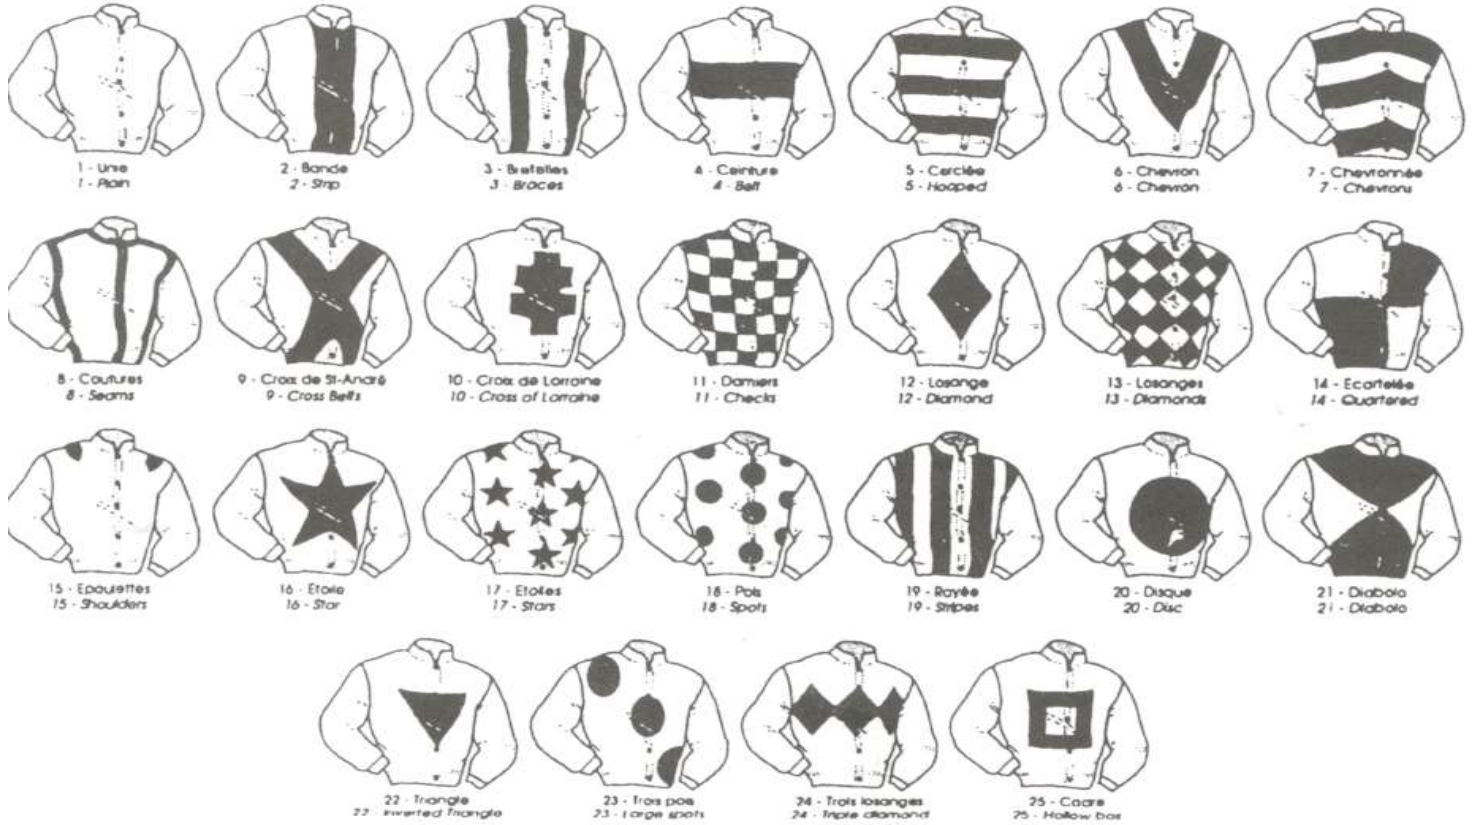

76. (a) If any owner runs a horse when colours are not registered for that owner the Stewards of the Club shall impose the prescribed fine unless the circumstances under which this occurred are acceptable to them;

(b) In the case of horses trained abroad, a declaration of colours to the Secretary at the Registry Office for each race by the time fixed for the closing of entries is acceptable in lieu of registration, provided there is no conflict with colours already registered with the Club;

(c) Colours, once registered, may not be taken by any other person;

(d) When an owner has more than one runner in the same race, alternative colours, or an alteration to such colours deemed appropriate by the Stewards to distinguish such horses shall be declared at scale. Except for these circumstances, the trainer of any horse which runs in colours other than as registered shall be fined the prescribed fine unless the trainer or owner satisfies the Stewards that the failure to comply with this Rule was due to circumstances outside their reasonable control. The prescribed fine may be waived by the Stewards, or it may be imposed on the owner if the trainer satisfies the Stewards that such failure was the fault of the owner.
